

Hi, my name is Vintage,

I am a 15-year-old from South Florida. Being in the entertainment industry was something I've always thought about, even as a young child. But I grew up in the foster care system, and had no way of knowing how to start or even get in. After leaving a bad foster home, I came to live with my current caretakers. They adopted me and my brother when I was 14 years old. Once I got settled into the home, my people realized I never really thought about my future. They like to say, "it's like you never even dreamed of having one." So, we searched for things I liked enough that I could turn it into a future. I never thought acting would be on the list, as I saw myself more as an artist, a model, a fashion designer, or a singer; with everyone saying I was good at these things. I like having cameras on me and having my pictures taken, so modeling has always been a big interest for me. My people signed me up for a theater camp for the summer, and I was in the play Young Frankenstein. I realized that I did in fact like performing and acting. I want to be in the entertainment industry because I want to see what I could do with it. I want the experience. I want to create through modeling, acting, and singing. I want to see who I can become.
