
HARRISON PATE

Child Actor

September 2, 2024

To whom it may concern:

As a new face in the industry, I am grateful for the opportunity to introduce myself! My name is Harrison Pate, you can call me Harry, and I am eight years old. With a few local theater productions, an independent short film, and one successful photo shoot under my belt, I am ready to further shape my talents and move on to bigger and better things.

I have recently been fortunate to train with some amazing acting coaches and actors from Talent Auditions Inc., all who have provided me with guidance, and instilled more confidence in my abilities as an actor. I place high value on the craft of acting; I know that what I have learned and will continue to learn about the craft will help me in my future endeavors.

Let me know the best way to move forward with your talent agency. I am ready to shine!

Best wishes,

Harrison Pate
