Jewell Brown

To whom it may concern,

In the past two years of acting in theater, I have grown well in the craft. I am told by my directors that I am one of the quicker actors to adapt to character and role changes. I memorize my lines quickly to create the character and adapt as directed. I will also memorize other lines so I know exactly when my part is coming up. I sing and can change the tone of my voice. I work well with others and love to help. That is why I believe I would be a great fit for you in any role.

I find my inner self through the characters I play. Connecting with the emotions of characters and songs is fun and engaging for me. Creating characters is my favorite things to do. I write songs and stories of my own and perform those as well. I enjoy performing and creating a world for others to see.

Sincerely,

Jewell Brown
