I am 9 years old girl who has great passion for film industry. I loved acting ever since I was young. I have taken part in various school plays and dance shows.

One of the things that made me so interested in it was getting in to a new created character and transforming yourself to someone else. The idea of portraying and being different person really excites me.

I love performing, playing dhol and dancing.

I am interested in an entry-level position. I know I have much to learn, and I'm looking for an opportunity that will let me build a solid professional foundation.
