I am a fresh face, with a fun and energetic personality. I am hardworking and perseverant, and am good at learning things fast. I love playing soccer and cricket. I am also good at video games like Nintendo etc. I love riding my bike in my free time. I have a sharp memory which helps me in learning and remembering stuff easily. I am also a math fanatic and an advanced learner and reader. I specifically love reading books related to maps, army and world wars. Apart from performing at preschool level stage shows, I have a natural inclination towards being in front of the camera. Being a first generation American, I am not only bilingual (English and Hindi), but also have a fair knowledge of Indian and American cultures. I am very social and love working with people of all ages.

I feel creative media is a good way to showcase my unique personality and talent, and also to support my financial needs going further. I love expressing myself in different ways and thus would love to get an opportunity to prove myself.

I hope to audition to prove how I can be valuable to your project.

Sincerely,
Abhimaan
